Can't afford to wait for service?

Emergency calls are responded to with unmatched speed. When "tomorrow sometime" is not an option, call us. We drastically reduce down time with a fast response around the clock.

What are you paying for?

At least one local crane service company doesn't even have liability insurance! We are fully insured.

Have too much to keep track of?

We regularly service, catalog and organize the equipment of local paper manufacturers, the US government, mills and plastics manufacturers. We deal with customers needing detailed comprehensive service on large quantities of equipment.

Free consultation

We can develop a comprehensive program suited to your company's specific needs.

Fast, Reliable and Safe

Safety training is an integral part of our company. We consult customers on the specific hazards their sites present as well as enforce industry standards with our employees.

Service Contracts Not Necessary

While we do give price breaks to customers who use us exclusively as their crane service provider, we do not require exclusive service agreements. We get repeat business by excellent service, not binding contracts.

Why wait until OSHA comes knocking? Missing overhead crane inspections are fined exorbitantly by the government. Even little stuff like missing warning labels or damaged safety latches can result in large fines.

Receiving a Titan Crane inspection report puts you in a position to make the most educated decisions about your equipment. The digital photos on CD-Rom we supply allow you to see problems first hand without getting dirty.

Owners can print multiple copies of inspection reports or email them to supervisors or the maintenance department.

Ultraviolet hook testing is available to detect cracks before they are visible to the naked eye.

Our inspection reports are confidential and identify code violations as well as potential problems preventive maintenance can fix.
